LADY STINGERS TAKE TITLE GAME

The Concordia University Lady Stingers capped a brilliant come back season by scoring a decisive 58-46 victory over the McGill Martlets on Sunday afternoon at Concordia, to win the Q.U.A.A. championship. The Stingers now advance to the C.I.A.U. national finals which get underway Thursday (February 28th) in Lennoxville, with Bishop's University hosting the games.

The title win was a complete turn-around for Mike Hickey's club which finished in last place a year ago. The Stingers jumped ahead 28-20 after 20 minutes and never trailed in the second half, although McGill did cut the lead to two points in the last five minutes. Jane Bullock led all scorers with 26 points, while Wanda Colley, who played outstanding ball all day, chipped in with 10. Bonnie McNaughton had 14 points in a losing cause for the Martlets.

CONCORDIA ALL-STARS NAMED

Three members from each of the men's and women's basketball teams at Concordia were selected to the Q.U.A.A. All-Star squads. Jane Bullock and Denise Dignard as well as coach Mike Hickey were picked in the women's league; while Craig Norman, Biagio Carrese and coach Doug Daigneault were the men selected.

In hockey, forward Mark Kosturik and defenseman Gilles Lascelle were the Concordia players chosen for the 84-85 Q.U.H.L. All-Star team.
